Observing
Questioning
Hypothesizing
Predicting
Planning and Investigating
Interpreting Communicating
Learners use process skills to build a conceptual understanding of science content.

Process skills are not used separately but as intertwined, coherent sets of skills.

Instructors can facilitate activities to help learners develop stronger process skills.